$155,000 RUM CARGO CAPTURED

After Revenue Cutter Had Fired Three Shots Across Mary E. Gully's Bow—30 Vessels in New York Harbor.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, June 25.—Laying three shots from her three pound gun across the bow of the Mary E. Gully, a 110 foot former submarine chaser, the U. S. Coast Guard Seminoles early today captured the rum runner after a ten mile chase off the New Jersey coast.

The Seminoles it was reported at the United States custom office was bringing for port. The Mary E. Gully has 1,500 cases of Scotch whiskey, valued at $155,000, aboard it was said by revenue agents. The former submarine chaser, manned by a crew of six men, had sailed the new rum fleet of 50 ships along the New Jersey coast for the last two years.

During the night the boat took aboard its cargo, Seminoles officers reported to the bureau office. The Seminoles, drifting in the darkness, watched the operation. As the Mary E. Gully set out for shore the Seminoles took after her. The chase was thrilling. The rum runner, observing she was being pursued, put on full speed ahead. So did the Seminoles. For ten miles along the Jersey coast, the two ships raced.

NEW BARGE CANAL TRAFFIC RECORD

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, June 25.—There is every indication the total amount of freight carried on the barge canal this season will break all records for the last 10 years, according to officials of the state department of public works.

The high water mark for this year's business was reached during the week of June 16, Edward S. Walsh, state superintendent of canals, said today. Over 75,000 tons of freight were carried on the canals. This was the greatest amount ever handled during one week on the barge canal since the new system was opened to traffic. It represents an increase of 87 percent over the corresponding period last year.

Announcement that the company had failed to meet their financial obligations was made upon the floor of the stock exchange immediately after the opening of trading this morning. An involuntary petition in bankruptcy had been filed against the firm Saturday. Today Federal Judge Knox appointed W. C. Flits receiver. The firm was a member of the New York Stock Exchange.

RUPPERT TO HAVE RUTH "ON THE CARPET"

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, June 25.—Col. Jacob Ruppert is going to hear Babe Ruth's own story of the Yankee star's reported "kickover the fence" before he passes judgment. It was announced at headquarters of the New York American League team here today.

Ruppert was without private advice from Boston as to Ruth's failure to appear at New Haven, Conn., for an exhibition game yesterday. A report that the Babe had been injured in an automobile accident was discounted by club officials.

INTENSE FEELING IN BRITAIN OVER SEIZURES

By Telegraph to The Freeman. London, June 25.—Former Premier Lloyd George's warning to the people "not to get excited" over the seizures of liquor from English ships at New York indicated the intensity of feeling prevailing here today over the "dry ship" controversy.

Certain interests, especially among the Tories who are seeking to make the liquor problem an international issue. The government, while Tory in politics, has given no indication that it will intervene.

GAS BILLS ANY DAY OF MONTH

To Be Payable Ten Days After Delivery Under New Plan Designed to Do Away With Congestion and Inefficiency.

Beginning in July the Kingston Gas and Electric Company will make a change in the method by which it requires its customers to pay their bills for service. Bills will be delivered from day to day during the month and will be payable within ten days after they are delivered. The date of the last day for discount will be stamped on each bill. This will make necessary, during the month of July only, the sending of two bills to some customers, but the second bill will not duplicate the first.

At present bills are delivered about the first of each month for the previous monthly period and are payable until the tenth of the month with a discount. The number of bills has increased so that the company finds its office congested, particularly on the tenth of each month, to the inconvenience and delay of its customers, and with a loss of economy and efficiency.

NO SURRENDER, ADJURES CUNO

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Berlin, June 25.—Despite France's repeated declarations that there can be no reparations settlement until Germany ceases passive resistance in the Ruhr, the government has made no move to meet this condition, it was learned today.

Chancellor Cuno, in a speech at Koenigsberg said: "Passive resistance must be continued so long as it is necessary in the interest of the nation."

PROGRAM FOR K. H. S. CLASS DAY

Tonight, the graduating class of K. H. S. will observe the custom of a Class Day. This is one of the most enjoyable parts of the graduating program, when the class puts forth its best in several different lines, oratory, criticism, literary, and all the rest, well known of the high school student. This is the time when the rival classes, the juniors and seniors, have it out, when the seniors attempt to look down from their high and mighty place of austere wisdom and deal out advice to the next in line, while the juniors, ruthlessly pick apart the work of the graduating class and take much of the pent up pride from their haughty seniors. Then, too, the class has some members who are ever on the watch for flaws, and they are subject to criticism from their own ranks. They all have a future and their jesting classmates can not let such a chance slip. As its last act, the class must make its will and distribute appropriate helms to its members. The program promises to be as full of fun as any preceding Class Day, as the speakers whom they have chosen for the different parts are well fitted and full of pep for their individual parts.

The exercises are scheduled to start at 8:15 o'clock. Following is the program:

President's Address Donald S. MacFadden
Class Orator Adolph Stumpf
Class Elocutionist Margaret Elmdorf
Address to Faculty Kenneth Davis
Class Historian Catherine McCommons
Class Critic Gordon Barnes
Class Poet Lucy Harder
Class Prophecy Lydia Davis
Advice to Juniors Kenneth LeFever
Junior Response Ralph Longyear
Class Legacy Ethel Schaffer
The public is invited to these exercises. Seats will be reserved for the junior class.

GERMAN INDUSTRIALISTS HAVE NEW REPARATIONS PLAN

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Paris, June 25.—A new plan of reparations payments, privately submitted by German industrialists, is under consideration today by international reparations commission, the Journal reveals.

Herr Letwin, a Berlin banker, acting as spokesman for the German industrialists, suggested that all German corporations give one-third of their stock to a central German corporation, which will be charged with payment of the pledged sums. This central corporation would thus become the "paying agent" for the German industrial group.

100 TALES MEN FOR SPECIAL WARD JURY

By Telegraph to The Freeman. White Plains, N. Y., June 25.—One hundred talesmen, many of them social and business leaders of Westchester county, assembled here today as the state launched its investigation into the killing of Clarence Peters, a former sailor, by Walter S. Ward, son of the millionaire baker.

ONLY A TRICKLE FROM MT. ETNA

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Catania, June 25.—Only a trickle of lava was flowing today from the crater of Mt. Etna and most of the peasants have returned to their homes or to the localities where their homes stood before being overwhelmed.

Numerous vine yards on high ground escaped—but the peasants are now having a difficult time to prevent tourists ruining the vines as they seek vantage points to witness the effect of the eruption.

NEGRO IS SHOT AT BRICKYARDS

Deputy Sheriff McCullough Says He Fired in Self Defense and Is Borne Out by Troopers—Victim Will Recover.

Archie Wynn, a negro employed at one of the East Kingston brick yards, was shot in the stomach Saturday night by Deputy Sheriff Michael McCullough, who claims he shot in self defense, in which statement he is borne out by one of the state troopers who heard him give warning to a group of negroes not to molest him or he would shoot.

The negroes in the vicinity of East Kingston took advantage of the Italian celebration at that place to celebrate in their own way, and a number of negroes from Kingston went there to help along. Deputy Sheriff McCullough on his way home met a negro who wanted to argue, but McCullough advised him to go home. About the same time state troopers met several Kingston negroes in that vicinity who were looking for a way to return home and were advised to get an automobile.

A few minutes later the troopers, who had returned to their quarters, were summoned by McCullough's little son, who said his father was being attacked by negroes. They started for the place pointed out by the boy and as they neared the group one of them heard McCullough warning the negroes. A few seconds later there was a shot. When the troopers arrived, all the negroes had disappeared except Wynn, who was found to be wounded, and McCullough, who said he had shot in self defense.

Wynn was taken to the Kingston City Hospital, where Dr. Chandler found that his intestine had been perforated by the bullet. His condition is not considered serious. McCullough was brought to the court house and questioned by District Attorney Traver, who later allowed him to return home. Witnesses were being notified to appear at the court house for examination this afternoon.

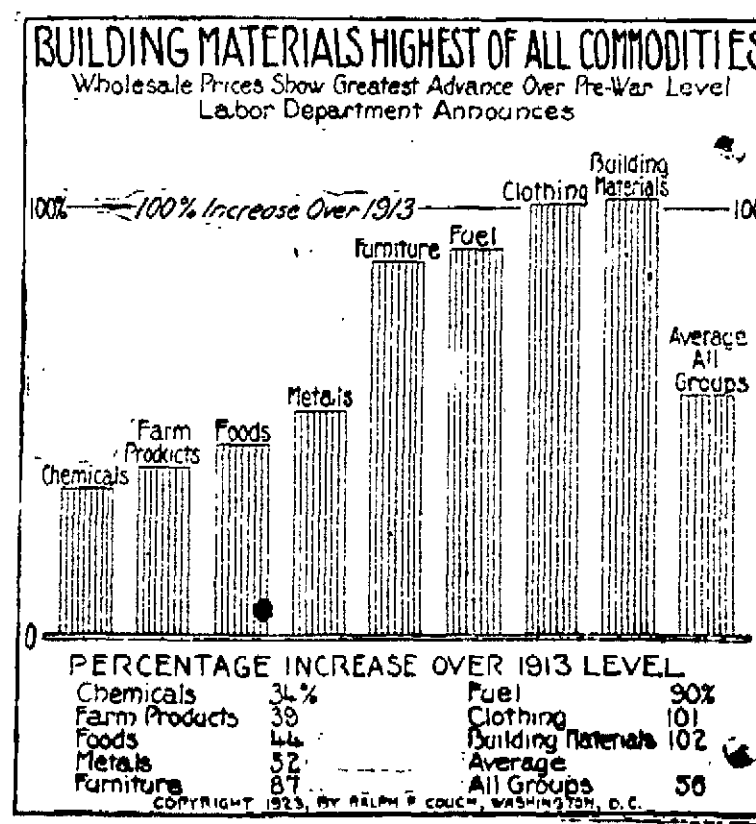

RETURN BALLOONS IN FIGHT ON GIPSY MOths

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, June 25.—The Conservation Commission, through the Gipsy Moth Control Bureau, liberated in the last few weeks 68,000 toy balloons, each bearing a substantial tag inscribed with the name of the finder and a record of the locality where it was found. Sportsmen, boy scouts and others in the open are requested to look for the tags as opportunity offers, and send them in, thus rendering material aid in a unique study of air currents and their relation to Gipsy Moth control.

FALLING LIMB CRIPPLED POWER

It Knocked Down Electric Wires at Staples Street and Downtown Section Was Without Current.

The wind, shortly after noon, today, blew down part of a tree at the corner of Broadway and Staples street which carried with it all the Kingston Gas and Electric Company's power transmission wires serving the downtown district. A repair gang was promptly set at work straightening things out and about 3 o'clock service was restored.

The Freeman was one of the chief sufferers through the power shortage. From 1:15 on its power was greatly weakened or cut off at intervals and typesetting and other machinery was idle at the busiest period of the day. Much news that would have been in today's paper was necessarily omitted.

ONE KILLED IN GERMAN RIOTING

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Eisleben, Germany, June 25.—One person was killed and 25 hurt in Communist riots here today.

The trouble began Sunday when Communists and Nationalists attempted to hold mass meetings. Each side attacked the other and serious disorders followed. The Nationalists, or "steel helmets" as they are called, emerged victors from the fighting. Only seven of their number were hurt. Of the Communists, one was killed and 18 wounded.

ACCIDENTS ADDENS HARDING PARTY

Third Death, That of Thomas Dawson, Results From Auto Leaving Road in Bear Creek Canyon—President Has One of Busiest Days.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Denver, Colo., June 25.—The enthusiastic reception which Denver accorded President Harding was saddened today by an automobile accident in which members of his party figured at Bear Creek Canyon.

The death toll of the accident was increased to three this morning when Thomas Dawson, former secretary of the United States Senate, died from his injuries in Denver county hospital. Sumner Curtis, representative of the Republican national committee on the trip and Thomas A. French of Denver, were killed outright. Donald Craig, Washington correspondent of the New York Herald, was severely injured but will recover, it was said at the hospital this morning.

Both the president and Mrs. Harding were shocked at the tragedy and there was an air of sadness over the entire Alaskan party today. The president had been invited to go on the same automobile trip which ended so tragically, but had declined. Examination of the wrecked machine led to belief that a broken steering knuckle was responsible for the road and crashing 75 feet into a rock strewn canyon.

President Harding had one of the busiest days today he has experienced since leaving the capital. Speeches here at noon and in Cheyenne early this evening were scheduled. The president will leave Denver at 1:30 o'clock immediately after his speech at the auditorium.

Girls' Friendly Supper.

The Girls' Friendly Society will serve their supper at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening at Holy Cross parish house.

PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT UP TO STATES; NO WET PLANK IN REPUBLICAN PLATFORM, SAYS PRESIDENT

POLLASTROS ARE FINED $15 EACH

Hot Weather Squabble Between Husband and Wife, One an Italian the Other a Negress in Which Bottles, Bricks and Bites Figured.

Dominick Pollastro, an Italian, and his wife, Mary, a negress, were fined $15 each by Judge Harry E. Schrick this morning in police court following a little family fight between the pair staged Sunday evening on Sycamore street. The pair were accused of being drunk and raising a disturbance by Officers Sashloff and "Sime" Wood, who made the arrests.

"This is how it was, your honor," explained Mrs. Pollastro to the judge, "Dominick he hit me with a milk bottle."

Dominick interrupted excitedly and showed the judge a spot on his head in the rear of an ear where he said Mary had landed the bottle. "Sure, I hit him," explained Mary, "but it was no milk bottle; it was a brick. He was coming for me with a knife when I hit him, and to get even he bit me on the arm, and she showed the scar."

"I just can't live any more with that man," continued Mrs. Pollastro, "he misuses me something awful. We have been married eleven years and he don't pay any money toward supporting me but uses it all for drink."

Dominick interrupted again to say that he did support her. "I got to go out and work every day," continued Mrs. Pollastro. "Does your wife?" asked Judge Schrick turning to the husband.

"Sure," agreed Dominick, "and I work too."

"Yes, he does," said Mrs. Pollastro, "I would starve to death if I did not work myself."

"Does your wife drink?" asked the court.

"Sure," nodded Dominick. "All I drink is homemade wine," added Mrs. Pollastro, "for if I drank any of that there hooch or gin or whiskey I couldn't work, could I?"

"Yes," continued the wife "he goes out every time he gets any money and gets drunk. If you don't believe me ask any of the neighbors."

"I'll fine you $15 each," said Judge Schrick as he brought the tale to a close.

"I got it home in my trunk," confided Mrs. Pollastro, and accompanied by "Sime" Wood she rode home in the police car and dug up the amount of the fine.

Her husband unless he pays his fine later will be the guest of 1818 Wall street for the ensuing fifteen days.

Judge Schrick warned Dominick that the police were receiving a number of complaints from that section and that it would have to be stopped.

Ruth's failure to appear in New Haven caused a near riot and 10,000 fans demanded their admission back. At Ruth's farm in Sudbury, a report had been received he had suffered an injury to his foot.

If States Fail, Government Will Have to Create National Police Authority—Al Smith's Action Represents Abandonment of States' Rights Rather Than Preservation of Them—Amazing Progress Made in Enforcement—Issue Fast Becoming One of Law Enforcement, Not Wets Against Drys.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Denver, Colo., June 25.—President Harding waded into the prohibition situation without gloves here today and in by far the most forceful speech he has ever delivered on this controversial subject, he declared that prohibition in the United States has come to stay, that people might as well make up their minds to it, and that it is up to the individual states and local authorities to enforce.

If the state fail in this moral and constitutional duty to the federal government, he warned, then the government at great expense will be compelled to create a national police authority that in the end will severely injure state sovereignty and eventually menace the well being of the republic.

Moreover, he served notice on the wets within his own party that there was to be no plank in the Republican platform next year, and he predicted also that there would be none in the Democratic platform.

"I venture to predict," said Mr. Harding, "that neither of the great parties will see the time within the next few years when they will declare openly for the repeal of the 18th amendment."

"I am convinced, too, that whatever changes may be made (in the Volstead law) will represent the sincere purpose of effective enforcement, rather than moderation of the general policy."

The president replied in hot fashion to Governor Al Smith of New York, whose approval of the repeal state enforcement law in New York was based primarily upon the sovereign rights of an individual state to cooperate with the government or not, as it chose.

Instead of upholding states rights, Mr. Harding declared, such action represented "complete negation of state rights."

"It is a curious illustration of loose thinking," said the president, mentioning no names, "that some people have proposed as a means of protecting the fullest rights of the states, that the states should abandon their part in enforcing prohibition."

"That means simply an invitation to the federal government to exercise powers which should be exercised by the states."

"Instead of being an assertion of state rights, it is an abandonment of them; it is an abdication; it amounts to a confession by the state that it does not choose to govern itself but prefers to turn the task, or a considerable part of it, over to federal authority. There could be no more complete negation of state rights."

President Harding also denied the contention advanced by Governor Smith and a few other state executives that responsibility for enforcing the Volstead law rests with Washington.

"The fact is quite the contrary," Mr. Harding asserted.

"The federal government is not equipped with the instrumentalities to make enforcement locally effective. It does not maintain either a police or a judicial establishment adequate or designed for such a task."

"The federal government ought to perform only those functions in connection with enforcement within its proper province," the president said. He enumerated the duties of the federal government as:

Supervising international commerce, importation and exportation of liquors, collection of federal revenue and prevention of smuggling. But the business of local enforcement, he insisted, belongs to the state and local authorities and should be enforced by them with the same sincerity and good faith that all other laws are enforced.

"The national policy ought to be supported by public opinion and the administrative machinery of the whole country," he continued. "The country and the nation will not permit the law of the land to come a byword."

"The issue is fast becoming recognized," he went on, "not as an issue between wets and drys, not a question between those who believe in prohibition and those who do not, not a contention between those who drink and those who do not; it is fast being raised above all that, to recognition of an issue of whatever the laws of this country can and will be enforced. So far as the federal government is concerned, and I am very sure also as far as concerns the very great majority of state governments, it will be enforced."

"A gratifying, indeed amazing progress has been made in the last few years toward better enforcement."

The president had nothing but scorn and criticism for those officials, who, charged with enforcement of the law, violate it themselves with impunity.

"It does not seem how any citizen who cherishes the protection of the law in organized security may feel himself secure when he is an example of contempt for law," he said. "Clearly here is a call for awakened conscience."

"Our must be a law abiding republic, and reverence and obedience must spring from the influential and the leaders among men, as well as obedience from the humbler citizens, else our temple will collapse."

CADET ROMEYN DIED SUNDAY

Charles Romeyn, a cadet at West Point Military Academy, died Sunday evening at the Kingston City Hospital as the result of a fractured skull. About ten days ago the young man was found unconscious alongside the Saugerties road with his motorcycle lying near his body. It is presumed he was thrown from the machine. He was taken to the hospital and Saturday an operation was performed in an effort to save his life. At the young man's bedside when he died was his father, Colonel Charles Romeyn of Washington, D. C., of the Second U. S. Cavalry at Fort Riley, Kansas, his mother, and his aunt, Miss Nina Romeyn of Washington. The body was taken to West Point for a military funeral.

THREE HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Andrew Schilling of 41 Emory street is in the Kingston City Hospital with fractured ribs as the result of an auto accident on the Flatbush road Sunday evening. His two companions, Joseph Bolle of 18 Cedar street, and Salvatore Blanco of 248 Foxhall avenue, escaped with lacerations and after having their wounds dressed left the hospital that evening. It is said that the auto they were riding in tipped over.

SAYS FORD COULD WIN IF HE HAD NOMINATION

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Ottawa, Ont., June 25.—"If Henry Ford can win the nomination for the presidency he will be an easy victor," Senator James Couzens of Detroit, visiting the Canadian capitol, predicted today.

Senator Couzens expressed doubt of Ford's ability to win party approval, however.

"To capture the nomination would be Ford's greatest difficulty," Couzens said.

He expressed the belief prohibition would play a great part in the next presidential race.

"The United States might well take a leaf out of Quebec's legislation and establish the sale of beer and wine as it is done in Canada," Couzens said, adding that, in his opinion, the Volstead law would be repealed and the sale of wine and beer permitted if United States laws were as easily amended as those in Canada.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

OPPOSSUM THOUGHTS

"I have had some thoughts," said the Opossum who was usually called Peter Possum.

Everyone thought it was easier to say "Possum" than to say Opossum, and Peter didn't object in the least.

"Yes," he continued, "I have had some thoughts. In the first place, I've heard that some animals changed their ways and improved themselves.

"They said that in the olden days the horse wasn't nearly such a fine-looking animal as he is now. He has improved himself. But they said that we hadn't changed so much. Yes, it was some one who knew all about such things as natural history and nature's ways who said that. And this person also said that lizards and crocodiles hadn't changed much, either. He said we were the kind who never changed and liked old-fashioned ways. Well, he was right. And I've been thinking."

"Was it great, great effort?" asked Mrs. Peter Possum, who had been listening.

"Not as much of an effort as you might imagine it to be," said Peter, who was not in the least offended by Mrs. Peter's remark.

"I've Been Thinking."

He knew that it was nothing to be offended at, because she didn't mean it rudely and then, too, she didn't think it was anything so fine to have a lot of thoughts. She was hoping Mr. Possum hadn't really gone to any great effort about thinking.

"No," he said again, "it was not such an effort as you might think it would have been. I thought how foolish it would have been to have changed our ways. Here we have always been the same. Our way of protecting ourselves is excellent. We know how to pretend we're not alive when a person comes across us. I know that I have been lifted up and I have acted as though there was no life in my legs and that I couldn't stand.

"That is the way I have acted and that is the best way to act. It would be foolish to change all that. But, along with little thoughts of this kind, I have been thinking how unfair it would be if we changed our ways."

"Unfair?" said Mrs. Peter Possum.

"Yes," he said, "unfair. That was my principal thought.

"I thought that it wasn't nice at all to change. Now we're the same all ways. We're not one way on Monday and acting differently on Tuesday. We're the same all the time. We can be depended upon for being the same, always, always, always. I don't like changes. I like things to remain as they are. The good old ways are good enough for me. And I like creatures to do the same. So do all Opossums. And my grandest and biggest thought was that it was really nice to think that, though others change, the Opossums will always be the same. Ladies may change their styles, gentlemen may change their cravats, animals may come improved in one way or another—learn more and so forth, but the Opossum family will never change.

"Why should we? We're satisfied. That's enough. So these were my thoughts."

"Good thoughts," said Mrs. Peter, "excellent thoughts, indeed."

Error in Judgment.

Little Bobby, who had been playing with a neighbor's daughter, came sobbing to his mother one day and declared that his playmate had pulled his hair.

"Why, Bobby," his mother gasped, "I thought she was such a nice little girl that she would never do a thing like that."

"So did I," wailed Bobby. "That's why I kicked her."

Lacked Lachrymal Restraint.

"Why, Bill, ye'r blubberin'," said a boy to his chum as they watched a pathetic picture unfold on the screen.

"Well," replied Bill, mopping his sooping eyes, "I like to see a person show a little feelin'."

"Feelin'?" said the first boy. "Feelin' is all right, but ye don't need to wash yer face in it."—Boston Evening Transcript.

Anything Is Possible.

A little boy in a city school refused to sew, thinking it beneath the dignity of a ten-year-old man.

"George Washington sewed," said the principal, "taking it for granted that a soldier must; and do you consider yourself better than George Washington?"

"I don't know; time will tell," said the boy seriously.—Good Hardware.

SEA MOSS DISHES

Sea moss is found on the northeastern coast and is well known and enjoyed in the New England states. It is called carrageen, but is better known as sea moss. It is a whitish weed without flavor and with the odor of salt water. It may be purchased by the pound and is used in the place of sage, gelatin and rennet. It is especially valued as invalid diet.

The moss is washed carefully in several waters before cooking, then placed in a cheesecloth bag and dropped into the milk and cooked in a double boiler for twenty-five minutes to half an hour. One cupful, packed, will thicken four quarts of milk.

For slightly stiffening sherbet, mousse and other frozen puddings, sea moss is excellent.

For a plain, smooth and delicate ice cream, take one-fourth cupful of sea moss and cook ten minutes in a quart of rich milk, strain, add a cupful of cream and one-half cupful of sugar; flavor with a teaspoonful of vanilla and freeze as usual. If one desires the moss may be put without a cloth bag into the milk, then it must be carefully strained. Sugar may be omitted and honey of the same amount used or one cupful of any jam, like peach or strawberry.

Sea moss may be used for drinks. To one-fourth of a cupful of the moss add one quart of water, heat slowly and cook ten minutes. To one glassful of the strained sea-moss liquid add the juice of half a lemon and one tablespoonful of honey. Grape juice may be used in place of the lemon or with a teaspoonful of lemon juice added with it; cherry juice or cream with a grating of nutmeg.

Sea Breeze Pudding.—To one-quarter of a cupful of sea moss add one quart of milk. Cook in the top of the double boiler for twenty-five minutes remove the moss and add the yolk of an egg well beaten with one-fourth of a cupful of sugar and a bit of salt. Add vanilla and the beaten egg white, heap in a glass dish and chill before serving.

On the Mountain Top

Climb the mountain—stand on the peak—and before you there unfolds a panorama extending as far as your eye can reach. Stay in the valley, and your view is restricted by the surrounding hills.

This Newspaper—properly used—will guide you to the mountain top. Read it and your vision is enlarged. You get a bird's-eye view of world events. You glimpse the doings of the day.

Fail to use it, and your view is limited—you remain in ignorance not only of events at home and abroad, but of much that concerns you even more vitally—news of the very things that have to do with your personal, every-day life.

Some one might be selling a new, better and more economical food; or a utensil that would add immeasurably to your comfort and well-being; or some better material for shoes or clothing—but you would never know, because of your restricted view.

You may read every line of the news columns, but if you overlook the advertising, you are still living in the valley. You remain uninformed about many things you ought to know in order to live a happy, useful, profitable life in this age of progress.

Climb out of the valley to the mountain top.

FANNING'S BODY IS RECOVERED

Sunday afternoon the body of Captain James Fanning, of the barge John B. Schoonmaker, who was reported missing Friday, was found floating in the river off the Port Jervis flats. It is thought that Captain Fanning was engaged in painting his boat which was in a tow and was so engaged he was seized with a dizzy spell and fell into the water. Coroner W. N. Conner was notified and gave the necessary permission for the removal of the body. The body was taken in charge by the firm of Conner & Valentine and on account of the badly decomposed condition of the body, which had been in the water for some time, it was placed in the vault in Montrose cemetery. Interment will take place today in Montrose cemetery.

Whether Captain Fanning had any relatives could not be learned, but every effort is being made to locate anyone who knows anything about him. Among his personal effects on the barge, which is now at Albany, may be some clue.

HIT MILLER'S CAR AND SPED ON

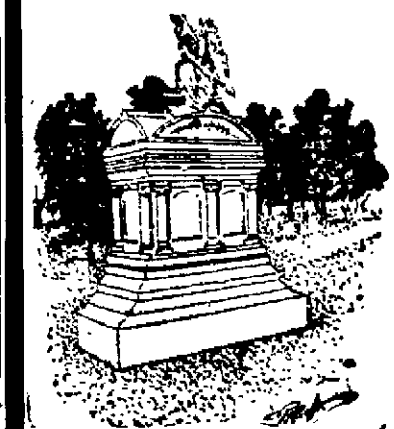

Chester Miller of this city reported to the sheriff that about 8 o'clock Sunday evening while he was proceeding along the Rifton road with his Ford sedan he was run into by a car which was going in the same direction as he. Mr. Miller stated that he was going out from the city and when on the hill near Rifton another car approached him from the rear and in attempting to pass him hooked into one wheel of his car and threw the car over in the ditch. The front end was smashed. The car which did the damage did not stop but proceeded at a high rate of speed. Miller's car was brought to this city for repairs. It is said that the offending car was painted red and was of the racer type.

Sheriff Kolts, Night Jailor Seth Jocelyn and Deputy Sheriff Ellsworth went to the scene and made an investigation.

GIBBONS TO BE CALLED AN INDIAN

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Shelby, June 25.—Tom Gibbons continues to be the most popular man in this section of the country. On Wednesday the challenger is to be declared a full-blooded Indian with all due ceremonies. Chief Curley Bear, it appears, lost his son 14 years ago and is coming on from the nearby Blackfoot reservation to adopt Gibbons whether he likes it or not. Thomas, of course, will be pleased to oblige, as he is underwriting all preparations to make himself sold hereabouts. In event that he is returned champion as a result of the impending bout.

Nothing is an inconvenience. He will get up in the middle of the night to greet the governor of the state or a book agent. It is all the same to Gibbons, and for that reason as much as anything else, we are inclined to hope that he will win just to see what effect a championship title might have on an otherwise impenetrable personality.

Thought Beau Was for Her.
Nine-year-old Marian is her Aunt Marian's pet. And whenever auntie, who is a successful young business woman, buys herself any luxury she buys one for Marian, too.

For instance, when she bought an umbrella for herself she bought Marian a parasol. She bought a bicycle to journey to business, and Marian a tricycle. She bought a big rocking chair for herself, and Marian a little one.

The other evening she came home with a new admirer, who was one of those fellows whom nature has made of the diminutive order.

For a minute Marian eyed him, and then she asked: "All right, auntie, I like him. But where's yours?"

How It Looked to Him.
"Do tell me something about the play," she said to the young man. "They said the climax was superb."

"Yes, I am inclined to think it was very good," said Peter.

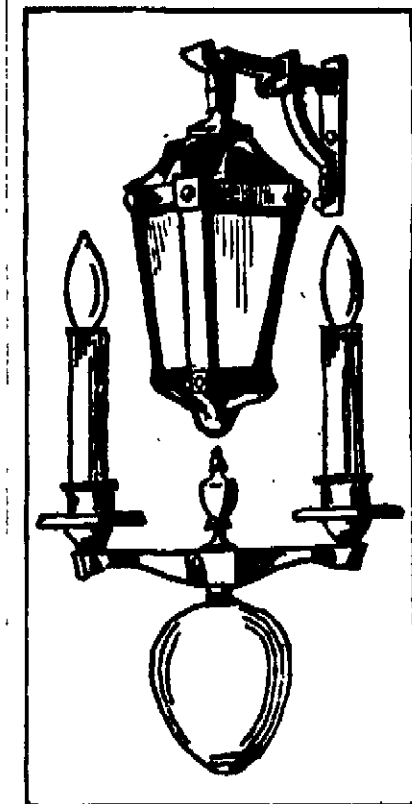

"Can't you describe it to me?" she asked.

"Well, the heroine came stealthily on the stage and knelt, dagger in hand, behind a clump of ribbons. The hero emerged from a large bunch of purple flowers and as soon as she perceived him she fell upon him, snatched him and sank half-conscious into a very handsome alcove. This may sound queer, but the woman in front of me wouldn't remove her hat and that's how it looked."

Lighting Your Home an Important Item

Is there any psychology in the illumination of a house? In other words are your feelings affected by the amount and kind of light that is contained within the walls of your home? Houses should be so well lighted that conscious and very positive pleasure come to us from this source. Light has just such an effect upon us emotionally as has music, and just as has light's inseparable companion color.

In planning the wiring of a house the two most important things to keep in mind may be expressed by two words, abundance and convenience. This may sound extravagant, but if one stops to think of extravagance in terms of relativity he will, in all probability, be surprised at the comparative slight cost of lighting his home. Take paper and pencil and make a calculation that will put the cost of illumination in its proper place on a list of expense items. Compare the amount invested in wiring and lighting a house with that of our investments in rugs and expensive draperies.

Wall Light in Lantern and Candlestick Design.

overstuffed furniture, attractive tableware, table linen, paintings, ornamental vases, or other articles that may occur to you. If you make a fair calculation you will be more liberal in the proportion of the money expended on light. And let us keep in mind continuously the double-barreled effect of light—the physical as well as the esthetic effect.

Blouses Are Worn With Plaited Skirts

Fashion goes by contraries, and even as she sponsors the slip-over and the hip-band blouse, notes a fashion writer in the New York Herald, she secretly flirts with the tuck-in model that has always been an accessory of the strictly tailored suit. They are, too, a natural accompaniment of the separate skirt and sweater mode, and the newest models are bidding for popularity in no uncertain terms. The materials are dimity, lawn, linen and voile, and models are evenly divided between the style that closes in front and the one that fastens in back.

The youthful Peter Pan collar and the V-neck prevail, and there is a distinct tendency in trimming to what is known as the "bosom" treatment, suggested by tucks, drawwork, lace inserts and a combination of trimmings with entreeux. The more elaborate of these waists are made entirely by hand, and real laces, hand embroidered, hemstitching and every possible variety of handwork are utilized to make them lovelier than they have ever been.

These waists are worn with the familiar plaited skirt—when the material is crepe or kin to it—and the wrap-around style, when it is of a heavier fabric. The plainer type of waist complements the latter, while the more elaborate, hand-done affair is accessory to the former mode.

Color Combinations Popular This Season

Combination in color and fabric is an outstanding feature in this season's modes. Figured and plain crepes are used in the same gown. Chiffons are combined with reps; black, brown and navy garments are combined with green, red, white and bright printed effects and so on.

In millinery color combinations are popular but the shaded hat is the last word in fashionable headgear. These hats are simply exquisite blendings of several tones of one color. A charming touch of silk range from a flesh color to rose. A cloche, cape in orchid satin shades from a lavender to a deep orchid. A pretty hat with the new up-turned side brim shows tones graduating from beige to brown. A small lavender millan has the trimming in three shades of orchid velvet ribbon.

Muff of Chiffon.
Enter the ribbon muff, the sheerest and daintiest accessory for the summer girl. It is made first of chiffon and encircled with two-toned satin ribbon. Orchid makes an attractive foundation color and is pleasingly combined with orchid and flesh ribbon, displaying an occasional tiny ribbon flower where the bands of ribbon are caught to the muff. Carried by the bridegroom, it adds an effective note to the spring wedding.

Original Nautical Phrase.
Frequently we hear about "Davy Jones." There was, of course, no such person, but should you speak of "Duffy Jones's Locker," you have the original phrase. Duffy is the West Indian negro term for the spirit of Jonah.

WORK ON NEW HUDSON RIVER BRIDGE WELL UNDER WAY

Construction of the new Bear Mountain highway toll bridge across the Hudson River is proceeding rapidly, according to reports from engineers in charge. The cofferdam on the western side of the river is about completed, and the progress on the eastern terminus, one mile north of Peekskill, is shown in the above picture. About 3,394 tons of steel for the towers and 151 tons of steel for the approach spans have been rolled and delivered to the shops for fabrication. The remarkable prospects for heavy traffic on the new bridge, which should be in operation in less than two years, are indicated by a statement given out by W. A. Harriman & Co., Inc., the bankers, showing that up till June 10th in the present year 190,000 motor cars visited Bear Mountain, comparing with less than 44,000 in the same period of 1922, 41,400 in 1921 and 25,200 in 1920.

CARABAO CALLED IT A DAY

Animal Willingly Made Three Daily Trips to the Well, but Absolutely Refused the Fourth.

Our water supply on Bongao Island in the Sulu archipelago was obtained from a well that had been dug by our Spanish predecessors. It penetrated to the underlying coral rock and gave up water so brackish that we at an early date went back to the high ground and tried to find a fresh supply. We found it about a mile from the shore and sufficient in quantity for all purposes. I sent up to Jolo by the next steamer for a water cart and a carabao, and in time a huge carabao bull with a 150-gallon cart was added to our colony. He was as usual a stolid but cheerful animal, inured to any amount of labor; but we soon found that three trips a day gave us a sufficient supply for all our needs.

This continued for about one month with no variation, when for some reason it became necessary to increase the supply. We then found that the carabao declined to make the fourth trip and nothing would affect him—brakes, punishment or torture of any kind. He simply lay on the ground and chewed his cud and placidly declined to move. He had made up his mind that three cartloads of water were sufficient for any well-regulated garrison and declined to make any further effort. The next morning he was perfectly willing to bring in another three loads, but nothing would induce him to bring in a fourth. He was perfectly willing to allow a barrel to be placed on the cart and have his load increased to that extent but another trip he would not make.—Stanley A. Cloman in the World's Work.

How Labeling Is Made Easy.

A small wheel is the basis of a handy printing device. It is intended for labeling or any other kind of writing. The wheel is about three inches high and has arranged about its rim the alphabet, numbers and punctuation marks. Protruding from the center on the left side is a small rod for turning the wheel, while a spring on the other side runs to a metal brace which holds the wheel in its perpendicular position, shows just where the letter is to strike, and serves as a rest for the hand used in the operation of the device.

Superstition Concerning Moon.
Why is it considered unlucky to see the new moon through glass? Moon worship is one of the oldest forms of religion, and the new moon as the symbol of reviving life was so sacred that whole tribes would assemble waiting for it to appear. Anyone who saw it through glass must have been indoors, and therefore absent from the sacred ceremony of welcome.

The "Roaring Forties."

The term, the "Roaring Forties," in nautical parlance, denotes a stormy region of the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian oceans, lying between 40 degrees and 50 degrees south latitude. It is characterized by analogy to a rough part of the Atlantic ocean lying between 40 degrees and 50 degrees north latitude.

PERSHING PLANS NATION'S DEFENSE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 25.—A plan for American mobilization and defense has been perfected by General John J. Pershing, chief of staff of the army, which "assures the impregnability of the continental United States in the event of attack by any possible hostile combination." It was learned here today.

This plan, approved by Secretary of War Weeks, will be ready to be put into execution with the completion of this summer's training of national guardsmen and civilians at the summer camps.

General Pershing's defense project provides for complete protection of the American coasts and border frontiers, and there is no possible landing point or line of advance that has been overlooked.

Each of the divisions of the regular army, each of the national guard regiments, together with certain special units of the organized reserve, has been assigned to the defense of specific sectors of the coast and border lines, transportation conditions have been studied carefully in order that there will be no delay in rushing the troops to their positions, and every eventuality has been met in detailed manner.

STAMPEDE ON HENDRIK HUDSON

The steamer Hendrik Hudson of the Albany Day Line left Bear Mountain for New York at 5 30 o'clock last night with between 5,000 and 6,000 passengers on board. Twenty minutes later, when she was off Indian Point, she ran into a violent electrical storm with sheets of rain, wind and an accompaniment of thunder and lightning. Those on the weather side of the steamer as the storm struck dashed across the deck to keep from being drenched.

The scramble was a wild one, with excitement which according to passengers approached a panic. Women and children were knocked down and hats, coats and summer furs were lost in the confusion. The rush caused the steamer to list so dangerously that Captain Alonzo Sickles ordered his officers and members of his crew to work along the decks and attempt to restore the ship's equilibrium by inducing those who had fled from the storm to return again to the weather side. It took from ten to fifteen minutes to get the boat on an even keel again.

The ship's doctor and several physicians who were on board treated a number of passengers for minor injuries received in the rush. Many of those on board were drenched when the steamer docked at the foot of Desbrosses street at 8 30 o'clock.

Alkali in Soap Bad for Washing Hair

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

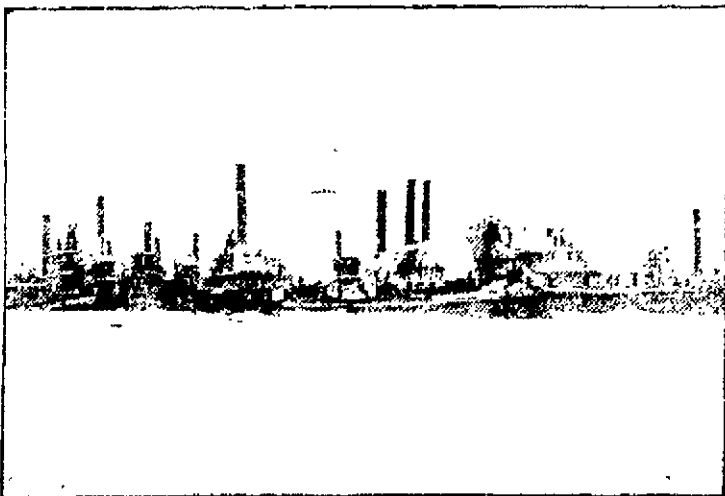

The best thing to use is Mulseid coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily.

The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

COYLE STARS AS COLONIALS WIN

Saturday's Game—Welch Allowed Only Five Hits—Bobby Knocks Home Run With Man On in the Seventh—New York Team Stages Rally in Ninth—Score 2-1.

For seven innings there was a great deal of speculation on the part of the fans at the Fair Grounds on Saturday as to how long the ball game which was in progress was going to last due to the fact that both pitchers seemed to be almost invincible in the pinches. Mickey Welch up to that time had allowed just three hits and at no time did he seem to be in any danger of being scored on. Hechs was also going along in good shape and did not seem to be in any real danger although he was touched for hits a little oftener than Mickey.

However all speculation ceased in the seventh inning when McCue already on the tip of his bat and sent it over the left field fence scoring the Colonials only two tallies.

Furthermore Coyle pulled some exceedingly sensational fielding stunts which were a great aid to the former Tarrytown hurler. Time after time Bobby would reach out with those long arms of his and pull a seemingly impossible one in.

Not only Bobby but also the rest of the team gave Welch some excellent support. Russell made two or three of the sensational variety and also two or three which were not sensational. Matty Deegan came through the day without any errors and made two nice stops.

In the third inning it looked as though the Colonials were going to score but the jinx which had been following them for the last four days was still with them that inning and although they loaded the bases the best Welch could do was to come through with a pop fly to the pitcher.

The New Yorkers were one of those teams which never consider the game at an end until the last man is out in the ninth and so thinking they started a rally in their half of the ninth which looked as though it might result in a number of runs coming over the rubber. Daley hit to center field. Both Rose and Young went out but Kearney came through with a double to left and as a result Daley came in home with the New Yorkers only run. Hechs tried his best to bring Kearney in but he finally went out by the Deegan-Coyle route. That broke the losing streak.

Various Theories About Wides.

At different times in the history of the world a great many theories have been entertained as to the cause of the tidal movements. Aristotle and Heronius thought that the tides were caused by the sun, which, whirling the winds about, caused the water to rise and fall. Later the explanation was advanced that the motion was the natural one of respiration—the breathing of the sea. The Arabs of medieval times thought that possibly the moon heated the water and thus caused it to swell and recede again as it cooled.

The Cromagnon conquest of France is perhaps the greatest epic of all history. Conquerors usually leave some small remnant of their vanquished foes. A few Indians still manage to hang on in the United States, east of the Mississippi. In spite of the immensely superior race of white men all about them. No Neanderthals were left in France. The Cromagnons exterminated them like beasts—men, women and children alike, and cleared the land for the foundation of modern civilization.

MRS. HARRISON TELLS THE DOCTOR SOMETHING

Told Him to Rub His Liniment On His Foot and See How He Liked It. HE DOES—WITH ASTONISHING RESULTS.

The well-known doctor of Hudson, N. Y. who invented and directs the manufacture of Carter's Liniment pulled off his shoes after a busy day on his burning, aching, calloused feet. As he rubbed his arches that seemed to crack as he moved them, his mind recalled this paragraph in a letter from Mrs. T. W. Harrison of Freeport, Long Island—"Perhaps it's impertinent to tell a doctor to try his own medicine, but suppose you try some of your wonderful Carter's Liniment on your feet the next time they ache." The doctor did and he was astonished at the quick and complete relief to be obtained in rubbing the feet well with a generous application of Carter's. Without stinging or smelling and staining terribly like some other liniments, Carter's seems to bring immediate coolness and relief to burning, aching feet. This new cure for Carter's probably is the reason for the enormous increase in sales amongst policemen and men and women generally that have to be on their feet all day. If Carter's, the stainless, oil-less liniment is in your medicine closet, try it tonight on your aching feet. If it is not, the regular size bottle is only fifty cents at any drug store.

Note: To Druggists: Please cooperate with us by ordering offener and in small quantities as the newly discovered use for Carter's as a foot remedy makes it impossible to fill large orders quickly.

BACCALAUREATE AT HIGH SCHOOL

Rev. Mr. Boeve Applies Ancient Wisdom to Modern Circumstances For Graduates.

The Baccalaureate exercises for the graduating class of the high school were held in the school auditorium on Sunday evening. A good sized crowd of friends joined with the students in these exercises, the program for which was as follows:

Invocation.....Rev. A. S. Cole
Hymn—"Come Thou, Almighty King".....Audience
Prayer.....Rev. F. W. Moot
Tenor Solo (Selected).....Mr. Paul
Miss Reynolds, Accompanist
Scripture Reading—Joshua XVII.....Audience
Hymn—"The Day is Dying in the West".....Audience
Address—"Twentieth Century Knighthood".....Rev. Lucas Boeve
Hymn—"How Firm a Foundation".....Audience
Benediction.....Rev. J. Wilbur Tetley

Principal Charles W. Lewis acted as chairman for the evening. Miss H. W. Carter led the singing. Miss L. B. Reynolds accompanying with the piano.

Dr. Boeve's address, the text of which follows, was full of inspiration and sound advice to all. It conveyed the spirit of Christian service, coupled with determination, urging the graduating young folks to high ideals, worked for diligently and hopefully.

Applying to his address the 14th and 15th Verses of the 17th Chapter of Joshua, the Rev. Mr. Boeve said:

A rector in an Anglican Church was invited to preach in a London pulpit. The preparation of the sermon had been long and thorough. It was a highly metaphysical treatise, with nebulous ideas. Present were the chief justice, barristers, notables and statesmen. "Well Judge," asked the brilliant young rector, "how did you like my sermon?" "Passing well sir, passing well," was the reply. "It reminded me of the peace of God which passeth all understanding, and like the mercy of God, I thought it would endure forever."

In my address to you I shall endeavor to steer clear of the nebulous, and at the same time, exercise (with a thermometer) around ninety the grace of mercy.

I hope you do not say, "today my education ends, tomorrow life begins." The process is continuous: the idea is translated into the purpose, the purpose into the action, the action into the character. I hope that many of you may be privileged to continue to explore the fields that have only barely been viewed from a mountain top. But whether you continue in school or not, this is your commencement. And some of you are asking, "What does the world, society demand of us?" And what can we do for the world?

This world always demands much of its young people. It is a struggling world, a world of strife and excitement. Every age has had its contentions and its civil upheavals. In these there have stepped forth heroes who for gallantry in battle, for daring in onslaught, for excellency in the destruction of human lives have immortalized their names. Alexander, Caesar, Hannibal, Napoleon, Grant have all been exalted to the highest positions attainable among their fellowmen. The world looks upon them as heroes and erects to their memory sacred monuments. Whenever and wherever they have fought, for country, for the betterment of the human race, for the advancement of great ideals it is right that we should honor them. It is but fitting and proper that we erect memorials to their great services and sacrifices. But there is today as never before, a call for heroism that does not consist in dying for one's country. There is a demand for courage that does not express itself in the slaughter of fellowmen. There is a cry for men and women who would do battle without the din of musketry, the clash of swords, and the thundering of cannon. What then shall be your crusade?

First of all, let it be against a soft and easy life. For it seems to me that from the life of service and toil and sacrifice so ennobling during the great war we are prone to lapse into a life of self-seeking and ease and luxury. It is refreshing then, to turn to this incident in Joshua, the seventeenth chapter. Here are a people who wanted more land. "We are a great people. Why hast thou given us but one lot?" This is a most modern situation. It is typical of our age. The people are legion who feel that their inheritance is too small and that life's allotment has been unjustly made. They want to travel a royal road to success in spite of the fact that struggle and strain are essential to success. This tribe, incident is the spirit of youth restlessly dissatisfied. It is the young doctor claiming the success and the fame of the eminent surgeon who, through sacrifice and toil has built up a large practice and the young man blames his lack of fortune on favoritism and social prestige. It is the young lawyer wondering why others receive the honor of the courtroom and he is passed by. It is the wall of the young clergyman who has graduated only recently from his seminary, who cannot understand why his qualifications so eminently fitting for a metropolitan pulpit are so overlooked by an unappreciative people. "Give us more land!" is the cry.

Understand the setting of the story. It is not the cry of poverty for plenty. It is the cry of wealth for more. It is a mighty people seeking a place in the sun. It is the young man, the young woman with brains and talent and training and opportunity crying for prestige and preferment. Underneath this beseeching is the rooted conviction that somehow preferment comes by luck and success by secret influence and court favoritism. Someone has said, "Weak men believe in luck, strong men in cause and effect." It is a kind providence that compels most of us to shun the life of ease, and to win our inheritance.

And that great leader and general, Joshua, had a knowledge of human nature. What has he to say to his brethren? This: "There remains much land to be possessed." That is an unanswerable answer. Yonder are valleys and hills, fields and meadows, lowlands and highlands still unoccupied, unpossessed. It is for those who have the nerve and the character. Those who have something of the pioneer blood of adventure and initiative and conquest to win them!

There my young friends is the answer to your dissatisfaction and your demand. Go into life determined to win your inheritance. John D. Rockefeller and Henry Ford started with nothing. The men who have made history as well as money, began where you begin. And because Henry Ford and John D. have more than their share that does not take the bread from your mouth. Your victory is not the cause nor the reason of my defeat. There are victory and glory for all. Are some of your young men and women thinking of politics? What opportunities for service in that field? When I think of the corruption of Addicks politics, (until recently) in Delaware, the misrule of so many years in Chicago and Philadelphia; Tammany Hall in New York city; the "open barrel" in Michigan, where a man sought to buy a senatorship; the short-sighted, provincial statesmanship so noisy in our congress — what opportunities for and what a challenge to the young people of today! Young people whose interests shall not center round the town pump, but in national and world questions! Without being pessimistic I would sometimes cry out, Oh! for more of the spirit of our fathers in whose eyes a guinea never glistened! More of that sterling virtue that never allowed an obsequious truckling to a vain ambition or to a mercenary consideration! More of the spirit of a Savoranola. "My soldiers, I have nothing to offer you but hunger, hardship and war, but whose loves his country follow me!" More of the spirit of Martin Luther, "Here I stand, here I cannot, so help me God." More of a Henry Clay who would rather be right than be president! More of Patrick Henry "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death!" Of an Abraham Lincoln, a Theodore Roosevelt, a Franklin K. Lane, a Woodrow Wilson! There is your field, go win your inheritance!

Do the conditions in the social and industrial world cry to you? Accept the challenge to help right the wrongs. Support the great philanthropic movements. "Heal the sick, encourage the poor, cleanse the lepers, cast out the demons," so runs the commission for us, to bring about the Kingdom of God, in this world, socially. This is a social age, and the problems which arouse the keenest interest have to do with man's relations to his fellowman here and now. There are in almost every community vicious social conditions and congenial surroundings, and unhappy homes, and unfair industrial opportunities and hurtful amusements. In your endeavor to Christianize this order, you will give it spiritual perspective. The giving of the cup of cold water in the name of the Great Philanthropist gives philanthropy an eternal outlook. It ties the brotherhood of man up to the Fatherhood of God. Invest your charitable, philanthropic and social work with permanent value by using it as an adjunct to the spiritual.

Some of you will seek a place in the halls of culture and learning. How essential is that laudable ambition in a great republic like ours! "Get thee up into the hill-country and win an inheritance for yourself."

Are you attracted to the commercial life? Win your own inheritance in that great field. God knows there is need of Christian ethics and principles in all life but especially in business. In the board of trade, and the exchange, and in commercial life. The field there open to conquest is limitless, boundless. And "The heights by great men reached and kept."

Were not attained by sudden flight. But they, while their companions slept, Were toiling upward in the night."

What a wonderful world for the twentieth century crusader! The opportunity and the challenge. When we realize this, then giants and hills and opposing iron chariots will nerve our will and inspire our spirits to victory.

Why do we seek wealth or influence or culture, or power or social standing? Either one of these is perfectly legitimate, but each becomes of real value only as an instrument of service.

America stands on the hill-top today. The world's trade, the world's markets, the world's finance are all hers. And the Master asks, "To what purpose?" "Selfishness or service?" "Behold my barns! see my fields of growing grain! My cattle and sheep upon a thousand hills! My granaries bursting. I will tear these down and build bigger ones!" So reasoned the Rich Fool in the story related in Luke the twelfth chapter. And what did God think about that man. "Thou fool! This night shall thy soul be required of thee!" That was the judgment.

It was a noble crusade upon which our revolutionary fathers entered for civil and religious liberty. It was a wonderful crusade to undertake to wrest this land from the Saracens. It was an unheard of crusade when this nation, a score of years ago, determined to wrest a weak, downtrodden, impoverished people from the control of a foreign despot. It was a sublime crusade in which a few years ago our whole nation girded on the sword and marched to the battlefield to save the civilization of the world.

A nation is but a collection of individuals and reflects the character of its people. What shall it profit a nation to gain the whole world and lose its own soul? He who inherited the glory of the Eternal took a towel and washed His disciples' feet. God scatters the wealth in forest, and field and mine and mountain and then says, "Go win your inheritance."

"He that findeth his life shall lose it; and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it."

ANNOUNCEMENT!

To Gas and Electric Customers

The number of bills for service paid at the office each month during the discount period and particularly on the tenth, has increased to a point where it causes considerable delay and inconvenience to our customers on account of the congestion in the office.

In order to do away with the condition and in the interest of economy and efficiency in the handling of our customers' accounts, we have adopted a new plan of billing and collection.

Beginning in July, 1923, bills for service supplied during the previous monthly period will be delivered from day to day during the month, and WILL BE PAYABLE WITHIN TEN DAYS AFTER THEY ARE RENDERED, instead of on the tenth of the month as at present. To avoid confusion, the date of the last day of discount will be stamped plainly on each bill. During July, the first month of this plan of billing, some of our customers will receive two bills for service. In starting the system, it is impossible to avoid this. But bear in mind the second bill will not duplicate the first.

We will endeavor to put this plan into effect with a minimum of inconvenience to our customers, and trust that it will meet with their approval and have their active cooperation.

The first woman to talk by telephone is said to have been Mrs. E. G. Sovereign. In 1874, when Alexander Graham Bell was making his first experiments with the telephone at Brantford, Ont., Mrs. Sovereign was teaching school in that place and helped the inventor string the wire and set up his first telephone instruments.

NEW ROOF FOR SENATE HOUSE

Judge Clearwater, president of the old Senate House Association, for the last three years has endeavored to induce the legislature to make an appropriation for a new roof upon that ancient building. Heretofore the legislature has been indifferent to its necessities. Last winter, however, both the assembly and the senate cheerfully provided the funds for the roof, and the Hon. John J. McNulty, the new superintendent of the department of public buildings, has advised the judge that instead of patching up the old roof he proposes to provide an entirely new roof, and to visit Kingston in the near future to familiarize himself with the situation and as to what may be needed for the future care of that venerable structure.

Many Breading Materials.

The Irish make potato bread, and in Iceland codfish are beaten into powder and made into bread. In some countries rice, which is not so nutritious as wheat, is used. In the days of James I the poor people of England made fairly good bread from barley, and rye bread, which is darker than bread made from wheat, is extensively made in northern European countries which are admirably adapted to the growing of that grain. Probably the most unusual substance ever used for making bread was employed during the siege of Paris by Henry IV. Because of a famine the soldiers and inhabitants of the city made bread from the bones taken from tombs and charnel houses.

Saving the Shipwrecked.

Saving people's lives by shooting at them with a cannon sounds paradoxical, but that is the first step in the method of rescue followed by life-saving stations throughout the world. When a ship runs on a shoal near shore, life-savers shoot an iron projectile attached to a coil of rope or fine steel cable over a cross arm of the vessel by means of a small brass cannon. Those aboard the ship haul in the rope, to which is attached a heavier one. The heavy rope is stoutly secured at both ends and, by a breeches buoy, the passengers are permitted to coast to the shore and to safety, one at a time.

Trouble Ahead for Puss.

Mattie came running into the house, excitedly exclaiming: "My pussy has borne five kittens! I don't know how she'll manage to take care of five children when it keeps me and you busy every minute with nothing but the twins, mavour."—Locke.

Knowledge and Understanding.

Nothing Good Comes From Evil.

That which is won in will never wear well, for there is a curse attends it which will waste it; and the same corrupt dispositions which incline men to the sinful ways of getting will incline them to the like sinful ways of spending.—Matthew Henry.

USERS MUST GET HOSE PERMITS

Many people in this city are using hose without first obtaining a permit from the office of the water department which is a violation of the rules and regulations of the department. The inspectors have been instructed to ascertain the names of those who are using hose without a permit and a record is being kept, and the water will be shut off at premises where the above rule is being violated.

COLONIALS DEFEAT
WHITE PLAINS

Due to Excellent Pitching on the Part of Culliton Who Let Visitors

Down With Four Hits and No

Runs.

Having broken their losing streak on Saturday the Colonials proceeded to hand the White Plains team a reverse trimming on Sunday, the score being 7-0.

It is doubtful whether Bud Cull-iton has ever been in better form than he was on Sunday when he let the visitors down with only four hits and did not allow a man to get beyond the initial sack. Rather an easy day for Deegan and McCue as far as patrolling their respective sacks was concerned.

If two of the visiting players had been just a little slower in their endeavors to reach this city the score might have been somewhat different.

Walters, the first baseman, and Dearman, the pitcher, were discovered speeding by the police force of Highland Falls and as a result they were somewhat tardy in reaching the baseball game. The Colonials touched Vernon, who pitched five innings for his team, up for ten hits, three of which were annexed by Bill

Schwab. Billy certainly was a happy boy Sunday night. The substitute man in place of Walters was so terrible that the Colonial management had just about decided to let them use Artie Rice, but then the tardy ones arrived and went into the game.

Babe Dearman, who pitched the last three innings for the visitors, allowed only one hit while he was in the box and demonstrated that he is a real pitcher. Billy said he was glad the police force of Highland

Falls nabbed him.

The Colonials put four runs over the plate in the second inning due to four hits and two errors, both of which were charged to Hasbrouck, the substitute.

Kinston, due to hits on the part of Schwab and Robins, and a general mixup on the bags, scored two more runs in the fourth and then in the fifth made it one more for a total of seven. Then Dearman came into the box and the Colonials' run-making was over for the day. They had more than enough, however, with

Dud in the box. They have struck their stride again.

No errors Sunday.
